

Current HCD area: This area will be studied to understand the protected historical, cultural and contextual values.

The modified study area includes a significant concentration of buildings which can attest to the historical development and evolution of Old Town until 1914. This area includes the National Historic District and the HCD Expansion areas. A cutoff year of 1914 was selected to include Old Town development patterns and architectural expressions which were inspired by British Classical and European styles, but to exclude the postwar development. This area will be studied and assessed for the extension of the Queen-Picton HCD.
